Welch Refuses Interview At Amarillo 'Birch' Meet

Bob Welch, self-styled leader of the John Birch Society, refused all efforts of The Canyon News to interview him as he made an appearance at Amarillo City Auditorium Saturday night.

News Publisher Troy Martin asked General Jerry Lee, who was at the door, if there would be any chance of interviewing Welch. Lee answered in the negative.

Martin then made his way back stage where he waited some 10 minutes for Welch to appear for his speaking engagement. Finally Welch swished in flanked by J. C. Phillips of Borger and Dr. Edward McKay of Amarillo. Both McKay and Phillips are John Birch members.

Martin first asked McKay if there would be any possibility of interviewing Welch. He again received a negative answer. Martin was insistent but still met with a firm refusal.

Refusals came both from McKay and from Phillips, who himself is editor of the Borger News-Herald where Martin was a cub reporter back in the late 1940s.

"You're the only one that's argued about it," McKay declared.

"I believe it is my duty to try to get an interview with this man (Welch)," Martin replied. "I think anyone who sets himself up as a leader of a group like the John Birch Society ought to be open for questioning."

"The newspapers have treated him badly," declared McKay. "Why do you want an interview?" asked Phillips. "He's already said everything somewhere else."

The verbal exchange took place within a few feet of where Welch stood, surrounded by people.

Welch read his speech from a prepared statement which he warned his listeners was copyrighted. He forbade newsmen to use any portions except those handed to them in a prepared text following the speech.

The Canyon News did not ask for the canned text. "To use such a prepared statement would put The Canyon News in the position of being little more than a propaganda media for this man Welch," Martin declared.

Welch received several rounds of applause but the number of people in the auditorium who did not join was conspicuous.

At one point Welch accused the crowd of heckling him by coughing.

Pre-School Parent Meet Set

Parents of children who will enter school this September are invited to a "get acquainted" meeting at the elementary school auditorium Monday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m., according to Joe A. Gibson, superintendent of schools.

Gibson said the meeting is held each year so parents will know more about the school system. Letters of invitation were put in the mail this week, Gibson said. Along with the letter went information sheets giving requirements for entering school and things expected.

Gibson emphasized that birth certificates, small pox vaccinations and diphtheria immunizations are required before children enroll.

Carport Case Still Pending

E. T. Cummings appealed a guilty verdict from corporation court to county court Friday following a jury trial in city hall.

Cummings was found guilty of violation of "Section VIII of Ordinance Number 109 of the City of Canyon" and fined $50 by a six-person jury.

Specifically, Bill York, city manager, said Cummings built a car port which extends some 10 feet over city right-of-way. According to the ordinance and section in question, it states: "There shall be a side yard along each line of the lot other than a front or rear line. The minimum width of the side yard shall be five feet."

York was first witness at the trial and said Cummings applied for a building permit during the latter part of last year and it was declined.

"I later found out that he had gone ahead and built the carport," York stated.

He said the carport was in direct violation of the ordinance since it extends over city right-of-way.

Gene McGlasson, attorney for the defendant, asked York if he had measured from any known points.

"I'm not a licensed surveyor," York replied.

Cummings took the stand next and told the jury that he thought the carport would be approved by the Zoning Board of Adjustments if he appealed. He said he didn't consider the carport a building. The board formally disapproved the construction January 27.

York was called back to the stand after Cummings and stated he considered issuing a permit to correct the carport but it was not approved.

In summing up the case, McGlasson, attorney for Cummings, told the jury that Cummings thought the structure would not come under a building code.

A. W. Lair, city attorney, said the matter boils down to a government by E. T. Cummings or by elected officials of the City of Canyon.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty within minutes.

Later in the day city commissioners met in a special session to review the position of York.

They voted unanimously that York's position is correct.

After deliberation with attorney for the defense, York filed the fourth charge against Cummings Tuesday, and the fifth Wednesday trial for the second offense has been set for Thursday afternoon.

Feed Grain Program Set Up for Randall Farmers

Rules Explained At Monday Meet

Randall County farmers will receive base acreage allotments and farm yield under the new feed grain law sometime during the next few days, according to Doyle Thomas, ASC office manager.

Thomas and John Brazzil, county agent, met with a group of approximately 400 farmers Monday night in the high school auditorium to explain the new program.

Thomas said the program is basically this: "If you reduce production of corn and grain sorghums by 20 per cent, in return your feed grains will be supported at a higher price than in the past."

He said the county has been allotted approximately 93,000 acres for grain sorghum production.

"Grains coming under this program are corn and grain sorghums. However, a farmer must not plant more than his base acreage of these two crops in order to qualify for the support price on oats, barley and rye, he said.

He added that the 1961 support prices will be: corn, $1.20 per bushel; grain sorghums, $1.93 per hundredweight; barley, 93 cents per bushel; oats, 62 cents per bushel; and rye, $1.02 per bushel.

In explaining the base acreage and yield Thomas said the 1959 and 1960 average of grain sorghum acreage and yield was taken for each individual grower.

"These were used to set the base and yield which will be used for the program."

"The grower must cut back at least 20 per cent from his base acreage to come under the program," Thomas emphasized.

He also said that a farmer may decide to leave out more than 20 per cent. "In that case he will be paid for the additional left out."

If during a good crop year the farmer exceeds his yield after meeting all program requirements the excess will not be allowed to go in the loan at the supported price.

"You have a choice of feeding the excess, storing it or selling it on the open market," Thomas said.

Throughout the meeting he pointed out that the program is not compulsory. A farmer can choose to enter the program and follow rules set up or he can continue to farm the land as he chooses and sell on the open market.

Several men at the meeting asked about cases where no grain sorghums were planted in 1959 or 1960.

"We have nothing to go on in that case," Thomas said, "and it would be impossible for you to get in the program."

Base acreages have been set only for corn and grain sorghum.

"A farmer can plant his base acreage in grain sorghum and corn and be eligible for support on any amount of other grains in the program," Thomas said.

"In the case of no base acreage for corn or grain sorghum you can continue to plant oats, barley or rye which will be supported," he added. The support falls only if you exceed the base sorghum acreage or plant sorghums without a base acreage.

If a farmer decides to enter the program, he is eligible to receive one-half payment upon signing a contract and the rest is due at completion. Thomas added that the first payment was left to the farmer's choice. He can wait until completion for full payment.

Several farm owners who lease their land wanted to know the status of the landowner under such a program.

"If you have two farms with two different tenants," Thomas said, "you are eligible for the support on your share only if both tenants meet the requirements. If one decides to follow the requirements and one does not, the landowner will not receive support for his share from either farm."

"But," he added, "the co-operating tenant will receive support for his share."

Thomas said that county or state lines have no effect on the program.

"It works the same way in that case," he said.

"You must meet requirements on all farms belonging to you to receive support on any of the grain."

In giving objectives of the program, Brazzil said it was designed to:

1. Increase farm income
2. Reduce the risk of serious overproduction of meat, poultry and dairy products.
3. Stop the buildup of surplus

4. Reduce the cost of the farm program
5. Stabilize prices of meat, poultry and dairy products.

'Palisades' Residents See County About Paving

Owners of property in a development known as "The Palisades" appeared before county commissioners Monday to express a mutual desire to have a road paved to their development.

The Palisades is located two miles south of farm road 1151 at a point approximately 2 miles East of Washington Street. Morris Cobb, spokesman for the group of 20, said this two mile strip is the road which needs paving.

Cobb told commissioners the road had been widened to a width required for pavement and the base had already been put down.

"There are 31 homes which this road serves," Cobb told the court, "and it would only require about a mile and seven tenths of paving."

He pointed out that the road not only serves the 11 permanent residents and 20 occasional residents, but a school bus, utility trucks and construction vehicles.

"We are here only to ask the completion of a consideration already in the minutes of the court," he said. "I believe that you agreed to pave the road last summer and we were here to let you know we are behind you."

Commissioners took no action on the matter.

Dr. Dudley Moore came before commissioners for the youth baseball leagues in Canyon and asked if the county is going to participate in the program this year.

Last year the county donated $500 to the Canyon program. This year one of the commissioners pointed out that such a program exists in south Amarillo and a $500 donation would be an unequal division of the $1500 set up in the budget for parks and recreation.

After checking with the Amarillo youth league commissioners okayed a division of

We are still busy on the Tito cablegram, the one the State Department is alleged to have sent to Yugoslavia's Tito at the height of the Hungarian revolution.

Text of the alleged cablegram which is supposed to have broken the back of the revolution in Hungary:

"The government of the United States does not look with favor upon governments unfriendly to the Soviet Union on the borders of the Soviet Union."

Congressman M. A. Feighan of Ohio says the cablegram was sent with the blessings of John Foster Dulles, then secretary of state.

If such a cablegram were sent at that particular time it was an act which could be described only as treasonable. If no such cablegram were sent, then Mr. Feighan is at best a mischief maker and not worthy of the high office he holds.

Mr. Feighan told us in a telephone conversation that a story of the cablegram was carried in an early edition of The Washington, DC Evening Star. He said it was killed out in later editions that day and was not referred to again.

We called Belmont Faries, news editor of The Star. He said no such story was ever carried by The Star in any edition.

Faries believes Feighan may have confused a story which appeared in The Star the afternoon of Nov. 1, 1956. This story dealt to some extent with a speech in Dallas October 27, 1956 in which Dulles said the United States was not seeking military allies along the border of the Soviet Union.

Twenty-three days earlier Dulles had informed the Yugoslav foreign minister that the United States had no such intention.

Foreign Minister Koca Popovic called on Mr. Dulles at the State Department Oct. 4, 1956, twelve days before Polish Premier Wladyslaw Gomulka was restored to power and shortly after Yugoslav President Tito had held meetings with Soviet leaders in the Crimea. This was several days before the ill-fated revolution began in Hungary.

In an earlier edition of The Star the same day a story was carried to the effect that the United States had been in secret contact with the Soviet Union through Yugoslavia in an effort to ease Eastern European tensions.

A State Department spokesman flatly denied any such negotiations. "We have our own ambassador in Moscow," Lincoln White, State Department Press Secretary, pointed out.

We have written to nine members of Congress, including Mr. Feighan, and the US State Department in an effort to track down the alleged cablegram.

So the People May Know

Even some of the staunchest members of the John Birch Society have expressed doubt in the leadership of the Society since Bob Welch, its top man, made an appearance at Amarillo Saturday.

We cannot approve of this man who believes that he is the only man alive ready, willing and able to lead the fight against Communism.

Welch sneers at democracy and in his blue book labels it a "perennial fraud." He says a republican form of government has "many attractions" under certain favorable conditions.

Welch looks with suspicion upon labor, management, religion, government, newspapers and in fact about everyone except Bob Welch.

We are reminded of the story of a Quaker husband talking to his wife.

"Wife," he said, "I can trust no one in the world except me and thee and sometimes I have reason to doubt thee."

We do not wish to destroy the John Birch Society. We would like to see it purged of men who avowedly see nothing wrong with dictatorship, if it is not a Communist dictatorship. The Birch Society has in its ranks many sincere men and women who are grabbing at a straw in an effort to find a vehicle for their fight on Communism.

Rudolph Hess offered us a Welchian method for fighting Communism during World War II when he parachuted down in England. He brought an offer from Hitler to join Germany with the west in a holy war against the reds.

Even as a lad I was against this method. I am against it now. I do not believe that the American people yet have to choose between facism and bolshevism.

We must understand once and for all that there is little actual difference between facism and bolshevism. Both are headed up by a type of latter-day nobility bent upon exploiting an enslaved people.

We ask, what is the difference between an Eichman with his hands dripping blood in Germany under Hitler and a Krushchev with his hands dripping blood in the Ukraine under Stalin?

We must fight Communism but we must also beware lest we nurture something as bad.

County Agent Speaks to Club

John Brazzil, county agent, met with the Edge of Town Home Demonstration Club last Friday.

The Club met in the Frank Phillips home.

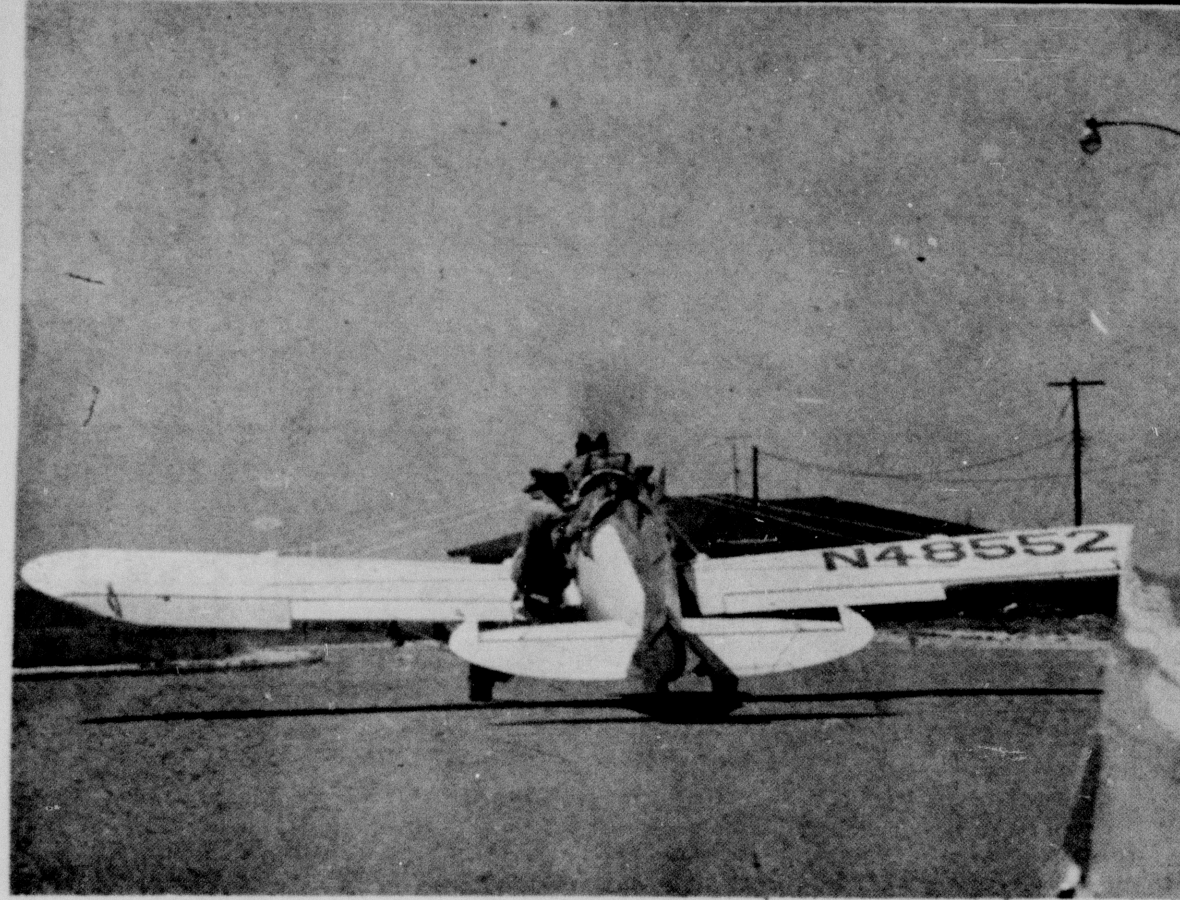

Brazzil spoke to the members and guests about lawns, shrubs and fertilizer.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Levi Cole, Mrs. Keith Hines and Frank R. Phillips.

BROTHERS VISIT BROWNS
Melvin E. Brown, Longbeach, Calif., and Jennie Brown, Childress, visited in the Ellis A. Brown home this weekend.

NOT RUN-OF-THE-MILL traffic usually seen around Canyon, Wilford Taylor III takes advantage of city paving to taxi to a field near his home. He has been flying about 9 years.

Flying Safer Than Highways In Opinion of Wilford Taylor

Flying is safer than driving a car, is the opinion of Wilford Taylor III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Taylor, 407 Taylor Lane.

"Of course, you have to exercise caution," he qualified. Taylor has been interested in flying for a long time. "I believe I started when I was 13," he said. Now 27, he has his own plane—a 1941 two-place Ryan PT 22.

Residents in Pioneer Estates had a chance to see Taylor's plane the first part of the week. It was parked beside his home for two days while he and a friend, Royce Gum, assembled it for the summer.

An open cockpit plane, Taylor said it is impractical for winter flying. This past winter he disassembled it and stored it in a box car. It took two days to put the plane back together.

Originally used as a trainer during the first part of the war, Taylor purchased it at El Paso two years ago.

"Since then I guess I've flown it about 90 hours," he said. He uses the plane for short flights in the immediate area. "I have flown it to El Paso and Albuquerque a few times but most of the time I stay right around here."

The plane's range is 351 miles. With a cruising speed of around 120 miles per hour, the plane takes about eight gallons of fuel per hour.

Cancer Crusade To Begin Sunday

Beginning Sunday, Cancer Crusade chairmen and workers will be knocking on doors in Randall County, seeking a quota of $2200.

At least two persons in the county have, in recent months, benefited directly from monies of the Cancer Society.

David Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miller, is a freshman student at Southwestern Medical College, Dallas, using a scholarship granted him through the Cancer Society. David, a graduate of Canyon High School, received a BS degree in biology last spring from West Texas State College, where he was a member of Alpha Chi.

Only last fall, the late C. M. Dowlen, cancer-stricken, was provided a hospital bed from society headquarters in Amarillo. His relatives testify that such a provision was "wonderful, and they express genuine gratitude for the availability of such equipment."

Randall County Cancer Society chairman is Charles Wright.

Dr. Thomas MacOwan, campaign chairman, states the solicitations will be concentrated on Cancer Sunday, and will continue through the week. Mrs. Joseph Findley and 20 volunteer chairmen are assisting Dr. MacOwan.

The township and adjacent vicinity of Canyon are divided into areas, and area chairmen will also call upon additional volunteers for covering the county.

Gerry Wise and Sue Miller of the 1st place Canyon Body Shop Team have very red faces this week. It seems that after bowling in the tournament at Eastridge last Sunday night they asked Eddie Knowles if they could return their bowling balls, borrowed from the Canyon Bowl. "Sure" said Eddie, handing them his keys. "Put them in the trunk of that Green and White Cadillac parked at the East End of the Sidewalk, you can't miss it." In a few minutes when they were returning his keys they remarked, "Some Cadillac." This Wednesday when we finally thought to take them out of the trunk, they were gone. After checking into it we found that parked close to where they were directed, there was a Green and White Buick and that the trunk key just fit perfectly!

Has anyone seen 2 strange Bowling balls lately?

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

These practices have been installed or built on the farms listed:

Waterway, diversions and graded terraces on Leonard and Allen Winters. Mrs. Beulah Sykes has built five diversions and about four miles of graded standard ridge type terraces. These were built to carry excess water safely off the land and prevent erosion.

Mr. Calvin Casey has done 30 acres of land leveling on his irrigated farm. This will enable him to use his pipeline to a greater advantage and also do a better job of irrigating his land.

Blanche Harris and Mrs. Lucy Turpin built a diversion which serves both farms. The upper part of Mrs. Turpin's catches the run off water from her field and it is carried along with the run off water from Harris land to a waterway which empties onto grassland. This co-operation between two adjoining land owners is a great help to both parties.

Rambling Around

Doyle G. Thomas

The number of farmers and landowners at the Feed Grain meeting Monday night surprised just about everyone. This will certainly help this office, since we will not have to spend so much time explaining the program to individual persons.

Details of the sign-up period and payment procedures were received by personnel of this office at an area meeting in Amarillo, Wednesday. Announcements on this will be made shortly.

One change in the program received since Monday night will allow a farmer to take all his diverted acres from corn or grain sorghum if he so desires. This probably will not interest many farmers since we have only about 1300 acres of corn in the county.

Other programs handled by this office have taken a back seat during the past month or six weeks. However, one of them where the work has continued without any slow down is the performance job on wheat. Farmers with acres in excess of their allotment are reminded that May 10 is the final date to dispose of the excess. We request that this office be notified as soon as the acreage is destroyed so that it can be checked. By doing this if a farmer fails to destroy enough acreage, he will have another chance before the May deadline.

A total of 57 acres of cotton was released back to the County Committee by farmers who did not want to plant the acreage this year. Sixty farmers made application for additional acres. The county committee will distribute the acreage at their meeting next week.

FAYE CALDWELL AND ROBERT HOBBS look at a painting by Ruth Parker. Mrs. Parker's senior paintings are on exhibit in the main lounge of the Fine Arts Building. The exhibit ends April 30.

TWO JOIN CLUB

Mrs. E. K. Snider and Mrs. Mary Bonnie became members of the Woman's Book Club at the April 12 meeting.

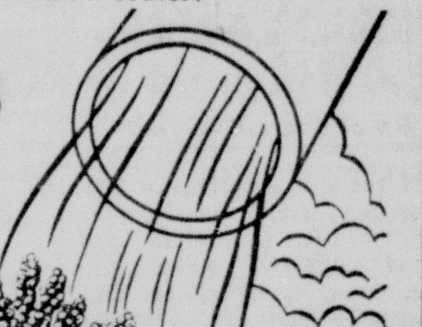

The afternoon's program was given by Mrs. John Davis, speaking on Ghana, and Mrs. Louis Taylor, speaking on Nigeria.

THE C. B. COMBSE ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Combs entertained guests in their home Saturday.

Visiting were Mrs. T. B. Atkins, Mrs. Dwayne Atkins and her children, from Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. Curt Lowe from Gruver.

Old Paper Gives Historical Account of Funston Relation

J. L. Funston of 705 10th Street brought an article to the Canyon News office recently about his cousin moving to Oregon March 1, 1849.

His cousin originally resided at Owensville, Kentucky, and before leaving for Oregon, conducted a dispersal sale.

Some of the items listed for sale were six Negro slaves, milk cows, a barrel of whiskey, a 40-gallon still, half interest in a tan yard, a rifle with accessories and fox hounds.

The cousin stated that the sale would be at 8 a.m. with plenty to eat and drink.

The original article was printed in the Owensville Outlook and was printed in the Reynolds (Oklahoma) Review December 5, 1934.

Funston's sister, Mrs. Ed Denton, was responsible for the 1934 printing.

MRS. HARRELL GIVEN PIONEER PLAQUE

Mrs. E. D. Harrell was named Pioneer Woman of the Panhandle Saturday by Zeta Epsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma.

An inscribed plaque was presented to Mrs. Harrell by Gladys Cox, president of the organization at the clubs meeting at the Canyon elementary school.

Mrs. Harrell came to Canyon with her mother and grandfather from Perry, Mo., in 1891. She was eight years old. Her father, a doctor, passed away shortly before she was born.

When she came to the plains, Canyon consisted of a courthouse, a few homes and the Victoria Hotel, which stood approximately where the post office stands now. She attended the first school in Canyon. She went to Odessa, Kans., where she spent three years with her grandparents; then she returned to the plains and married E. D. Harrell in 1898.

Harrell was a rancher and they made their home on his ranch ten miles northwest of Canyon for twenty-odd years. She bore him one son, Newton. She recalls such things from the early days as cooking on an iron stove and burning "prairie coal." In 1926 the Harrells built a home at 1000 4th and moved to town.

Her husband helped found the Panhandle Plains Historical Society of which she is now a member. During the twenties, elementary classes were held in an unused part of West Texas State College. As the college grew it became necessary for them to have the space the elementary students were using. Mrs. Harrell was the only woman on the school board at the time.

"Times were hard then," she says. "Nobody had any money. The men on that board just sat around and hung their heads for three weeks. I knew we had to have a school and so I just got up and made the motion that we build one. Some of those men just fell apart. But we got our school house."

In 1932 her husband died and she continued to run the ranch with her son Newton. "I still tell them how to run it," she says. "I'm the gran'ma."

She is a member of the Presbyterian church. In her fifty years of membership there she has served as a church deacon, on the board of trustees and taught Sunday school. She has belonged to the Woman's Book Club, and was a room mother and P-TA worker for almost twenty years. Mrs. Harrell donated a chime to Dreamland Cemetery, where a number of her family are buried. She donated 183 books to Canyon High School Library.

In 1950 she was made an honorary member of Phi chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma and was active on their scholarship committee. When the chapter was split she became an honorary member of the Zeta Epsilon.

orary member of the Zeta Epsilon.

She was a member of the Canyon school board for seven years, ending in 1951. She didn't let being the only woman on the school board keep her from going to the convention, although she had to share a pullman car with over 30 male members all the way to St. Louis.

At 78 she says that knitting takes up most of her time. "I've kept several college girls in my home," she says. "Some of them wouldn't have gotten to go to school otherwise. The girls helped me with my housework."

She has two grandchildren, Mrs. W. E. Howse and Ed Harrell, and three great-grandchildren.

As Canyon has grown she has gone from cooking on "prairie coal" to cooking on a modern range and from being an eight-year-old girl to being Pioneer Woman of the Panhandle.

In-laws Win Gift For Mrs. Slack

Mrs. Tom Slack was awarded a prize at the Thursday meeting of the Canyon Mothers-in-Law club.

Louise Harvey served as song leader; Mrs. H. C. Hudson gave the devotional; Mrs. R. T. Bowman led the prayers; and Mrs. C. W. Dunn was in charge of the social hour.

The club met at the home of Mrs. O. V. Vaughn, 1805 2nd. Co-hostesses were Mesdames W. J. Stewart, C. W. Dunn, Laura Hutton, and J. L. Hines.

The next meeting will be May 11, at 2:30 p.m. in the J. Roy Davis home east of the city. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Tom Slack, Hattie Brasuel, Mrs. W. I. Wester and Mrs. T. T. Fain.

Mrs. Dale Harter will be in charge of the devotional segment of the program. A panel of five, moderated by Mrs. Craig Johnson, will discuss the topic, The Churches: Free and Responsible.

May Fellowship Day offers an opportunity for women to consider such question as: Is my church free and responsible? What is God's will for his church? What is my responsibility?

FOUR SPEAK ON FOREIGN EDUCATION

Three members of the Foreign Liaison Section of the Technical Training School at Amarillo Air Force Base spoke to Zeta Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Saturday at a luncheon.

The symposium was given on "Understanding Foreign Cultures." Major Ko, Korean Air Force, Captain Son, Viet-Name Air Force, and Master-Sargent Malik, Pakistan Air Force were introduced to the meeting by Sargent Sogabe, interpreter at Amarillo Air Base.

The men talked on education in their respective countries. Major Ko also gave a talk on the Korean language.

In their talks the men stressed the great need and desire for education that has come to their countries in recent years and the problems faced by the countries in trying to provide adequate educational facilities. They also pointed out that education was a major weapon in their fight to remain free countries.

"On independence, Pakistan inherited an alarmingly high percentage of illiteracy," Master Sargent Malik informed the group.

The same situation seemed to have been true for all three countries. The prominent issue facing the ministries of education in the countries, is the training of sufficient teachers in lands where only grade school education is compulsory. These countries still depend on Britain and America for much of their higher education.

The three men are in the U.S. on a program of exchange with our government.

Three Treated After 2-Car Collision

Three persons received minor injuries Thursday resulting from a two-car collision on highway 87 near Dreamland Cemetery, according to highway patrolmen.

Injured were Lonnie L. Byars of Canyon; Jesse G. Thompson and Bobby B. Falkner, both Texas Tech students.

Accident occurred at about 12 noon.

Both vehicles were headed north on the highway. Byars was driving a pickup in the right lane of traffic and a vehicle driven by Ray F. Lashaway, a Tech student, was attempting to pass. The two injured students were riding with Lashaway. They were coming to Canyon to attend a band concert on the West Texas State College Campus.

Patrolmen said Byars attempted to turn to the left from the right lane. The car driven by Lashaway was too close to avoid striking the pickup.

Byars received a cut at the back of his head and was released after treatment. The two students, Thompson and Falkner were treated for bruises. Damages were estimated at $800.

Guardsmen Have 'Outstanding' Drill On Rifle - Pistol Ranges Here Sunday

Approximately 100 National Guardsmen participated in the annual small arms qualifications fire at the Guard range north of Canyon over the weekend, according to First Lieutenant Don Briggs, commander of Canyon's heavy weapons platoon.

Participating in the two-day drill were members of the Combat Support Company, First Battle Group, 142nd Infantry, 36th Division. The unit is divided between Borger and Canyon.

Unit commander, Captain Walter T. Norman Jr. of Borger, supervised the training. Firing was done with two weapons--the M-1 rifle and the .45 automatic.

Norman said results of the drill were "very satisfactory."

Present at the special meeting was Col. Roland M. Lawrence of Amarillo. He is the battle group commander.

Lieutenant Briggs, was officer-in-charge on the rifle range and said the men did a fine job.

"We had every man in the company qualify," Lieutenant Briggs said. "This was one of the best firing drills we've ever had."

He attributed it to pre-fire training and the weather. "Many factors influence the range firing and it would be hard to say just which one led to the fine results we had."

More training is in store for the Canyon units as it will attend 15 days training at Fort Hood, Texas, later in the year.

RANGE FIRING with the M-1 rifle took up two days for the Canyon unit. Above, Ace Atchley sights in on the 1000-inch range. Everyone in the unit shot a qualifying score.

West Texas State's second full-scale intra-squad football game will be staged Saturday afternoon in new Buffalo Stadium, starting at 2:30. The public is invited.

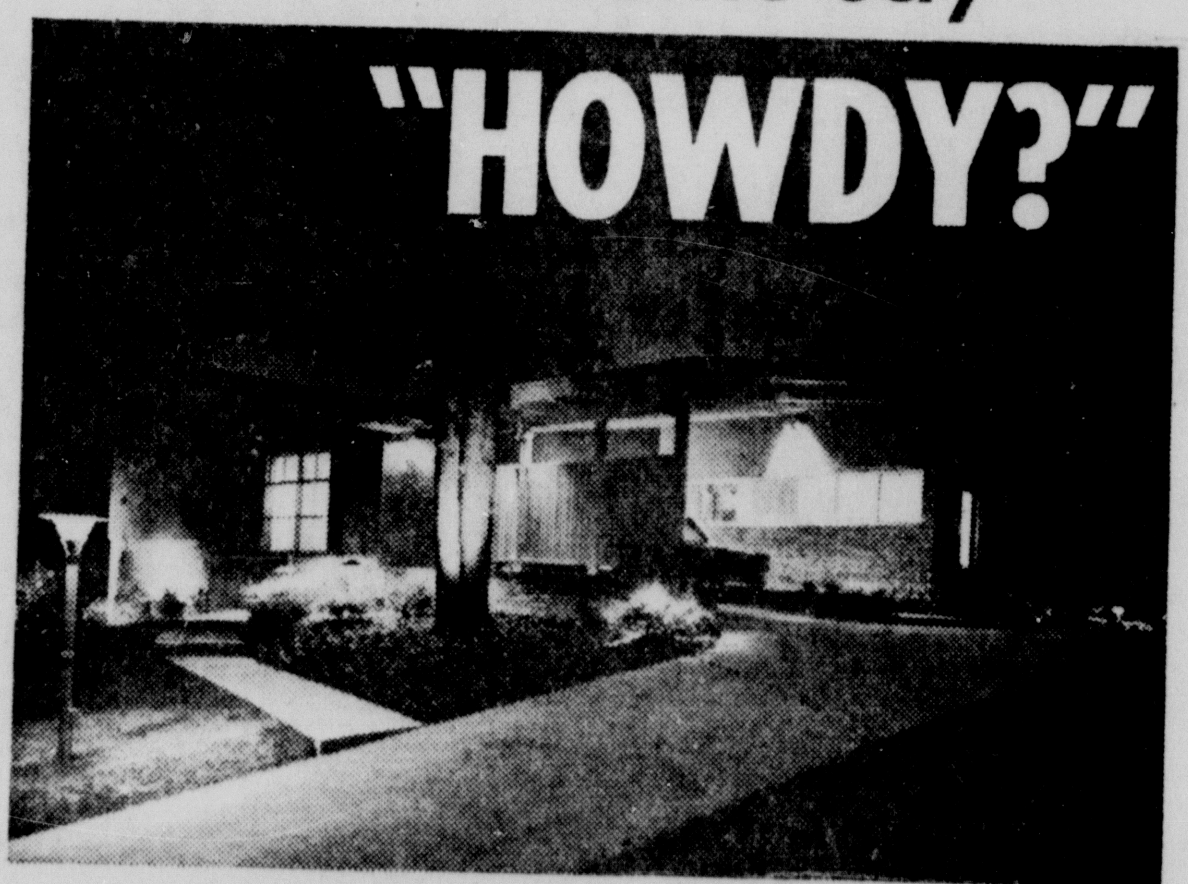

Coach Joe Kerbel and his staff ran the Buffaloes through a two-hour scrimmage Saturday before 1000 fans. He expressed satisfaction in the workout despite the fact several of his leading halfbacks missed it with injuries.

Barring further injuries this week in drills, the Buffs should be in better physical shape Saturday and several of the new backs who missed last week's program are expected to be in uniform.

City Checking Possible Use of Radio Equipment

ARCHIE DAVIS, city public works superintendent, is shown above working with a radio unit being tested by the city. Commissioner's authorized the test at a recent meeting.

Mobile unit radio tests conducted by the city the last few days have proved satisfactory, according to Bill York, city manager.

The city has installed a mobile unit in the street department pickup and has a base station in the city office.

"This is just a test," York pointed out. "The city has considered installing radios and we want to see how they meet our needs."

In a previous commission meeting, city heads decided to conduct the test.

York said the radios have worked out well in town and it is possible to contact the truck at the city's farthest water well, some 16 miles from town.
